♦ IN THE NAME

The Juba and Shabelle rivers flow through Somalia — our drink names are a quiet tribute to the land our food comes from.

XIGMADDA · OUR ROOTS

Our Story

Magan has deep roots in South West London — a story that started long before the name above the door changed.

Safari Restaurant opened in 2010 as one of the first Somali kitchens in Battersea. Built on honest cooking, warm hospitality, and a community that kept coming back. That foundation never changed.

2010 · Safari Restaurant

Safari opened on Battersea High Street serving traditional Somali food. Word spread, regulars became family, and a reputation was built one plate at a time.

Now · Magan, 140 Battersea High St

Magan — meaning "shelter" or "safe haven" in Somali — is Safari grown into what it was always becoming. A new name, a larger space, and a menu that honours tradition while making room for something new.
