

ELECTRIC AVENUE

BAR & DINING ROOM

23 LOGAN ROAD, WOOLLOONGABBA

ESTABLISHED 2017

ROCK DOWN TO ELECTRIC AVENUE

Yes, like the song. No, we won't stop you singing it.

This heritage-listed building you're joining us in has lived a few lives. It opened in 1928 as the Woolloongabba Baby Clinic, one of Brisbane's first, and the only one the government had to design from scratch, because local mothers turned up in such numbers that the standard plan simply wouldn't do. Thirteen thousand visits a year came through these doors. Nurses were still here in 1949!

Then came the antiques, and with them the character that made The Gabba's antique precinct famous. Look around you as you explore our venue, most of what's bedecking these walls and ceilings came from exactly that.

Since 2017, the history being made here has been ours. As for the food, consider it a love letter to Great Britain, the bits we can't stop thinking about. A Ploughman's with proper piccalilli. Scotch eggs. Bangers and mash you build yourself. Chip shop curry sauce. A tikka masala, because let's be honest, it's the national dish. Nothing clever for the sake of clever.

WELCOME TO OUR BAR & DINING ROOM

We hope you have a wonderful experience.
